Circuit Attorney Sager Plans Trip to Kanoni City to Investigate Trade Organisations There

Little progress was made yesterday in the Grand Jury's investigation of the methods of bucket shops and brokers. It had been announced that several prominent members of the Merchants' Exchange would be asked to appear before the jury, but the original plan was interfered with by Circuit Attorney Sager's decision to go to Kansas City to look into the claim of local bucket-shop keepers that they are connected with a legitimate trade body there.

connected with a legitimate trade body there.

If he can do so without neglecting other business, Mr. Sager will depart for Kansas City to-day, and it is said that the Grand-Jury investigation may not be resumed until next Monday.

George H. Morgan, secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, and Moses Fraley, a member of the exchange, were before the Grand Jury for a short time yesterday. Al. Wagenmann, former clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, and Doctor J. H. Cassilly were the only other witnesses. They are said to have been questioned as to the methods of bucket shops in making and recording trades in grain and stocks.

Humane Society President Swears Out Warrant for Rozier Meigs, Alleging Misappropriation of $25-Factional Fight.

Mrs. Mary B. Calkins, president of the St. Louis Humane Society, yesterday morning swore out a warrant charging Rozier G. Meigs, attorney and former president of the organization, with embezziement.

Attorney Meigs was at the Four Courts when the warrant was issued. He hurried to the Sheriff's office, gave bond at once, and then appealed to Judge Moore of the Court of Criminal Correction for an immedate hearing. Judge Moore Set the case for trial to-morrow morning.

The warrant, according to Meiga, is the result of a factional fight in the society which resulted in his resignation as president last January. At that time it was said that a story told by Meiga shout himself and a party of friends "smoking" a squirrel out of a tree and then killing the animal while they were hunting, was the cause of the fight. The other members of the society considered the incident beneath the dignity of a humane society president.

The warrant specifically charges the emthe Attorney General's departure Circuit persistent of the organisation, with embeasiement.

Attorney Meigs was at the Four Courts when the warrant was issued. He hurself once, and then appealed to usinge Moore and the Attorney General and Circuit General Ge by Charles H. Kunst, a contractor, of No. 1323 Allen avenue.

Attorney Meigs admits receiving the check and savs he appropriated it to his own use at the suggestion of his accuser. Mrs. Calkins. He declares that he carried the check around with him several days after receiving it, until one day he and Mrs. Calkins were in the county investigating the bull-fight arrangements there. He mentioned the check to her at that time, he says, and she told him to use the money in payment for his services to the society.

Meigs, it's understood, has several letters, which, his friends say, will create a sensation if they are introduced as evidence, which, it is said, is his purpose.

TRUCK FARMER DECORATES WAGON WITH AUTO TAG.

St. Louis is richer by the amount of half a year's license. James M. Foster of the State National Bank is again in possession of the tag dropped from his automobile a few days ago, and a farmer is nomewhat wiser, if a trifle poorer, in consequence of his boldness in tacking to his wagon the metal square that had formerly decorated Mr. Foster's machine. Inspectors from the License Commissioner's office, on their rounds near Boulard Market yesterday, observed a large blue enamel tag on the farmer's wagon. The tag was' of the sort that is issued only to owners of automobiles.

Investigation failed, it is said, to disclore any other license, and the owner of the wagon was taken into custody. He declared that he had found the tag and thought he could use it on his wagon.

The Inspectors took the farmer to the License Commissioner's office. He consented, it is said, to pay for the proper license on condition that there should be held for him at the License Commissioner's office. He consented that he had lost it several days ago. It is held for him at the License Commissioner's office.

KIRKWOOD CLUB PROTESTS. Wants Legal Authority in Sewer

Tax Ordinance Matter. At the last meteing of the Kirkwood Protective Club, a resolution was passed calling upon the town officials to have the validity of the sewer tax ordinance, adopted about four months ago by the Board of Aldermen, passed upon by proper legal authority. The question is now up before Judge McElhinney for adjudication, but the members of the club contend that it is being delayed.

The club has about 109 members who have decided not to pay the sewer tax until its validity is deciared by a court of competent jurisdiction.

The tax, which was levied for the purpose of building sewers, will amount to about $15,000. It is said that nearly half of this amount has already been collected. The work of the construction of the sewers is being pushed.

Robert McCulloch, in Letter to Kiely, Commends Department.

Wednesday morning's mysterious explosion in the West End, the police believe, can be explained by from the Veiled Prophet's bell and wanted to put the finishing touches to a "torn-down time" they had been having.

The detonation of the explosion that made many good burghers jump from their beds in alarm early Wednesiay morning was greatest in the vicinity of Skinker road and Lindell boulevard. It was heard by various and sundry persons inside the World's Fair grounds or near by whose business it is to be up in the "weesma" houre," and all agree that the explosion must have happened not very far from that point.
